Open Portals: May They Never Close

At a time when the great question of world disarmament is engaging the attention of the leading nations, and on the eve of the assembling of the Washington Conference to deal with the subject, it was most appropriate that some tangible recognition of the world's greatest achievement in disarmament should be made. This was done on September 6th on the Canada-United States border between the Province of British Columbia and the State of Washington when the gates of the great International Peace Arch, erected at a cost of $40,000, were thrown open at an impressive ceremony.

This magnificent Peace Arch commemorates one hundred years of peace between Great Britain and the United States. Following the war of 1812, a peace treaty was signed at Ghent, Belgium, on December 24, 1814, and by the provisions of that treaty it was provided that neither Great Britain nor the United States should erect fortifications along the boundary line between their respective territories, nor would either country maintain vessels of war on the Great Lakes. In other words, it was mutually agreed that along the whole 3,000 mile boundary neither country would make or maintain any warlike preparation against the other. Both countries disarmed absolutely so far as they were concerned.

For over one hundred years that pact has been kept unbroken despite the many complex questions and differences of opinion which have at various times arisen between the two nations, as it is inevitable they should develop where there is so much in common and where the interests of one is bound on occasion to clash with the interests of the other.

But if the two wealthiest and most powerful nations in the world, both financially and commercially aggressive, could wholly disarm in so far as the relations of one to the other were concerned, surely it is within the field of practical international politics for all the great nations to follow their example, and thereby not only relieve their people from the crushing burden of armaments but remove the greatest of all incentives to war, namely, active preparation for it, leading to a rivalry in warlike preparation which cannot but finally end in putting these great machines of destruction to the use for which they were built up.

Imagine what the cost to Great Britain, Canada and the United States would have been during the past one hundred years if each had maintained great fortifications along a 3,000 mile boundary line, rival fleets of war on the Great Lakes and Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and standing armies ready to fly at each other's throats! And had such preparations for war been made, it is not merely possible but probable that on occasions in the past when relations became delicate and somewhat strained, recourse would have been had to the rifle and cannon rather than to the peaceful means of arbitration? And what has been possible on the North American continent is surely at least worth a fair trial in Europe and between all countries.

The ceremonies attended on the opening of this International Peace Arch were not only impressive, but provide a sound guarantee of a maintenance of those friendly relations under which both countries have prospered. The longer the peace remains unbroken, the less likelihood there is that it ever will be broken. That old treaty of Ghent still stands, but it has been buttressed in these later years by a second treaty between the two countries which provides that all causes of dispute between them shall be submitted to an impartial court of arbitration.

At the opening ceremony the United States flag on the Arch was raised by a British Columbia girl and the British flag by an American girl. Emphasizing the common ancestry of both people, the ceremony took place on the same date as that on which the Pilgrim Fathers went on board the Mayflower. The Arch itself carries across the plinth on the United States' side the words, "Children of a Common Mother," and on the Canadian side, "Brethren Dwellers Together in Unity." The doors of the great Arch bear the inscription: "Open for One Hundred Years; May These Doors Never Be Closed."

This wish will find an echo in the hearts of all British and United States subjects, coupled with an ardent desire that disarmament may not be confined to these two great English-speaking nations, but that it may be extended to include all nations, races and languages until open portals stand on all international boundary lines testifying to the real brotherhood of man.

Public Documents are Printed in French and German.

The official languages of Switzerland are French, Italian and German, but Switzerland has no language of its own. A majority of the people speak German, while the others use French and Italian, varying as a rule according to the proximity of the people to each country whose language they speak. Public documents and notices are printed in the French and German languages. In the Swiss national parliament the members make their speeches either in French or German, the majority being as familiar with one language as the other. Statements from the president of Switzerland are furnished to the newspapers in both languages.

PAINFUL NEURALGIA

TORTURING SCIATICA

Both Come From the Same Cause—Thin, Watery Blood.

Most people think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. This neuralgia of the "sciatic" nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain is the same as the pain in neuralgia is caused by starved nerves. The blood which carries nourishment to the nerves has become thin and impure and no longer does so, and the pain you feel is the cry of the nerves for their natural food. You may ease the pains of neuralgia by hot applications, but a fair trial from the trouble comes by enriching and purifying the blood. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are strongly recommended. These pills make new, rich blood and thus act as a most effective nerve tonic. If you are suffering from this most dreaded of troubles, or any form of nerve trouble, give these pills a fair trial and note the ease and comfort that follows their use.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Elevators in Manitoba

Expected That System Will Handle Five Million Bushels of Grain This Season.

One hundred government elevators with an average capacity of about twenty-five thousand bushels each, or an aggregate capacity of 2,500,000 bushels, are taking care of their share of this year's crop in Manitoba. These elevators usually fill up about twice at least during the season, so that they will actually handle approximately five million bushels of Manitoba grain this fall. Practically all of this will be wheat.

In all, there are 702 country elevators in Manitoba with a total capacity of 22,926,000 bushels, besides five large interior storage elevators capable of holding an additional 2,200,000 bushels of grain.

World's Smallest Railway

Independent Little Line in Highlands of Cumberland.

Canadian visitors to Europe, on landing at Liverpool or Southampton, are at once struck by the small size of British locomotives as compared with the mighty machines in American railway operation. Their astonishment, not unshared with amusement, is, however, soon supplemented by admiration for the excellent running made on the English main lines, but if one's itinerary takes him into the lake lands and highlands of Cumberland he will there find an independent little line which is said to be "the smallest public railway in the world." This line is known as the Eskdale Railway, and is seven and one-eighth miles in length. The rail gauge is one of fifteen inches only. It is leased to a London company—Narrow Gauge Railways, Limited. The passenger service is carried on by diesel express engines, but to a scale of one-quarter the size of ordinary British main line locomotives, but in other respects exactly the same in construction and appearance.

SPEND A WINTER AT THE OLDS SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE*Term Opens on October 27th, 1921.

The courses offered afford the best opportunity ever given farm boys and girls to obtain a practical education.

The school term occupies only the slack time on the farm.

The courses are free. Boarding and rooming accommodation are arranged for by the school management, and rates will be very reasonable.

The farm in connection with the school maintains a good selection of live-stock for judging purposes, and the demonstration of feeding and housing methods, and the experimental work carried on during the summer provides the best and most recent material on crops and crop production.

The school is equipped for the teaching of the elementary agricultural sciences.

There has never been a greater demand for trained men in the agricultural field than there is to day. The uncertain conditions and values of all farm products at present make it essential that the successful farmer be equipped with every bit of available knowledge underlying the principles of production and marketing.

Every profession trains its men carefully in its own subjects—what is more essential to the future farmer than an agricultural training. Give the boy and girl a chance; it will pay in satisfaction, in the improvement of farming methods, and in money.

CAN THE DEAF BE MADE TO HEAR?

This question can be answered both ways. If the deafness is due to Catarrh, success is generally if the sufferer persists in the use of Catarrhose, and thereby drives Catarrh out of the system. Penetrating the passages of the ear, the soothing vapor of Catarrhose relieves the inflammation, and the Secret of Catarrh and thereby allows nature to re-assert herself. For Catarrh! (Continued)

He disengaged her, gently enough. As Beulah said, his heart was all right, but a long way in. Twenty-five years of pitched battle with circumstances—sometimes in victory, sometimes in defeat, but never in despair; always with a load of expense about him, always with the problem of income and money to be solved; had made of Harris a man very different from the young idealist of '82. During the first years of struggle there was a bare existence in some way, the flame of idealism still burned, but with the dawn of a better time there came a gradual shifting of standards and a new conception of essentials. At first the settlers attached little value to their land; it was free for the taking, and excited no envy among them. The crops of the early years were unprofitable on account of the great distance to market; later, when the railway came to their doors, the crops were still unprofitable, owing to falling prices and diminishing yields due to poor cultivation. There came a decade during which those who stayed in the country stayed because they could not get out, and it became a current saying that the more land a man farmed the deeper he got in debt. Homesteads were abandoned; settlers flew by the "across the line" or to more distant districts to begin their fight over again. And yet, in some way, Harris kept his idealism amid all the adversity in which the community was steeped; reverses could neither crush his spirit nor deflect it from its ambitions.

Then came the swing of the pendulum. No one knows just what started it; prosperity was said to be that the farmers, disheartened with wheat-growing, were applying themselves to stock-raising; it is that in "mixed farming" the community eventually found its salvation; others attributed it to the improved agricultural implements, to improved methods of farming, to greater knowledge of the conditions, to reductions in the cost of transportation and enlarged facilities for marketing, or to increasing world demand and higher world prices for the product of the farm. But whatever the cause, and no doubt all of the above contributed—the fact generally dawned upon the settlers that land—their land—was worth money.

It was the farmers from the United States, scouting for cheaper lands than were available in their own communities, who first drove the conviction home. They came with money in their wallets; they were actually prepared to exchange real money for land. Such a thing had never before been heard of in Plainville district. At first the settlers were sceptical. Here were two facts almost beyond the grasp of their imagination: that farmers should buy land with money, and the farmers should have money with which to buy land. True, a few of them had already bought railway lands at three or four dollars an acre, but they bought on long terms, with a trifling investment, and they aimed to pay for the lands out of the crops or not at all.

But a few transactions took place; lands were sold at five dollars, eight dollars an acre. The farmers began to realize that land represented wealth—that it was an asset, not a liability—and there was a rush for the cheap railway lands that had so long gone begging. Harris was among the first to sense the change in the times, and a beautiful section of railway land that lay next to his homestead he bought at four dollars an acre. The first crop more than paid for the land, and Harris suddenly found himself on the way to riches.

The joy that came with the realization that fortune had knocked at his door and he had heard was the controlling emotion of his heart for a year or more. But gradually, like a fog blown across a moonlit night, came a sense of chill and disappointment. If only he had bought two sections! If at least he had proved up on his pre-emption, which he might have had for nothing. He saw neighbours about him adding quarter to quarter. None of them had done better than himself, but some had done as well. And in some way the old sense of oneness, the old community interest which had been the little band of pioneers together amid their privations and their poverty, began to weaken and dissolve, and in its place came an individualism and a materialism that measured progress only in dollars and cents. Harris did not know that his gods had fallen, that his ideals had been swept away; even as he sat this summer evening, with his daughter's arms about his neck, he felt that he was still bravely, persistently, pressing on toward the goal, all unaware that years ago he had left that goal like a lighthouse on a rocky shore, and was now sweeping along with the turbulent tide of Mammonism. He still saw the light ahead, but it was now a phantom of the imagination. He said, "When I am worth ten thousand dollars I will have reached it," when he was worth ten thousand he found the faithless light had moved on to the next thousand. He said, "When I am worth twenty-five thousand I will have reached it," when he was worth twenty-five thousand he saw the glow still ahead, beckoning him on to fifty thousand. "I never ceased to him to slacken his pace to allow his mind a rest from its concentration; if he had paused and looked about he might, even yet, have recognized the distant lighthouse on the reef about the wreck of his ideals. But to stop now might mean the sight of his goal, and John Harris held nothing in heaven or earth so great as his attainment."

So, gently enough, he disengaged his daughter's arms and finished his supper in silence. As the meal ended he started for the barn, and in a few minutes two wagons rattled noisily down the trail. Beulah helped with the supper dishes, and then came out with the milk-pails to the corral where the cows, puffing and chewing, complacently awaited her. But she had not reached the gate when the hired man was at her side and had slipped one of the pails from her arm.

"Now, Jim, don't think that's fair at all," she said; and there was a tremor in her voice that vexed her. "Here, you've shared all with coal and water, and I think that's enough, without milking cows at night."

But Jim only smiled and stirred a cow into position. "Yes, that's like you," she continued. "Pick Daisie first, just because you know she's tough as rubber. Say, Jim, honest, couldn't you stop pausing and facing him, milk stool in hand, 'why do you let father put this kind of stuff on or on you?' or 'you father doesn't put anything over on me,' he answered. 'I'm very fond of milking.'"

"Yes, you are—not," she said. "You do it on my account, because you're too big-hearted to quit before I'm through. . . . There was a unusual song of the tin pails as the white streams rattled on their bottoms."

"Jim," she said, after a while, when the noise of the milking was drowned in the creamy froth, "I'm getting near the end of this kind of thing. Father's getting more and more set on milking all the time. He thinks I should slave along top to pile up more beside what he's got already, but I'm not going to do it much longer. Mother stands it—I guess she's got used to it, and she won't say anything, but if there's anything I'm not strong on my silence, I'm not afraid of work, or labour, or anything. I'd live in a shack if I had to. I'd—"

"Would you live in a shack?" said Jim. She shot a quick look at him. But he was quietly smiling into his milk-pail, and she decided to treat his question impersonally.

"Yes, I'd live in a shack, too, if I had to. I put in my first year in a sod-house, and there was more real happiness romping up and down the land than there is now. In those days everybody was so poor that money didn't count. . . . It's different now."

Jim did not pursue the subject, and the milking was completed in silence. Jim finished first, and presently the rising hum of the cream separator was heard from the kitchen.

"There he goes, winding his arm off—for me," said the girl, as she rose from the last cow. "Poor Jim—I wish I knew whether it's the next human kindness makes him do it, or whether

Castoria, or Something Else?

FLETCHER'S CASTORIA is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations.

It has no great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

Fletcher's Castoria having been prepared solely for our little-ones, should not be confused with ordinary cure-alls or preparations primarily compounded for grown-ups. The child's organism, so delicate and tender, requires specially prepared medicines and foods, the one no less than the other, as mother-love well knows, and mother-love can not be deceived.

— She stopped, colouring a little over the thought that had almost escaped into words. When the heavy grind of the separating was finished Jim went quietly to his own room, but the girl put on a clean dress and walked out through the garden. Rows of 'mignonette' and lobelia border, and the sweet, earthy garden smells filled the calm evening air. The rows of current and gooseberry bushes, laden with heavy green fruit; the leaves of the Manitoba maples trembled over to life in the still air. The sun was setting, and fleecy fragments of cloud were painted ruby gold against the silver background of the sky. From the barnyard came the contented sighing of the cows and the anxious clucking of a hen gathering in her beated brood. The whole country seemed bathed in peace—a peace deep and unapproachable, having no part in any of the affairs of man.

At the lower gate she stooped to pick a flower, which she held for a moment to her face; then, toying lightly with it in her fingers, she winged the latch and continued along the path leading down into the ravine. It was dark and cool down there, with a touch of dampness in the grass, and the balmy odour of the flowers seemed sent a fine moist fragrance through the air. To the right lay the bench where the sod-house had stood, not so much as a mound now marking the spot; but the thoughts of the girl turned yearningly to it, and to the days of the lonely but not unhappy childhood which it had sheltered. (To be continued)

Taft Refers To Debt That The U. S. Owes To British Law

Ottawa.—William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, speaking before the Canadian Bar Association here paid tribute to British law and to British lawyers, and declared that "the thought of the British law was always sweet, as it must be, to all those in the United States who realize the debt the United States owed to British law. Mr. Taft was greeted with continued cheering at the conclusion, and a resolution congratulating him on his appointment to the chief justiceship of the United States, proposed by Justice Riddell, Toronto, carried unanimously.

"I feel like saying: 'Here I am again,' Mr. Taft continued, 'I have the home feeling here. In Ottawa I meet people and greet them with the same feeling as I do people in New Haven, New York and even Washington. I have no feeling of a boundary line at all. I have been in politics and abused on both sides of the line. I have sat on the bench on both sides and have realized in these desecrated the errors of men.' It was an honor for the American bar to have the representative invited to attend the Canadian Bar Association meeting. It made for the firmer establishing of the friendship which did and must exist between the two countries.

Congratulating the Canadian Bar Association, Mr. Taft said the American Bar Association regarded itself as the parent of the Canadian Association inasmuch as the convention of the American Association in Montreal in 1913 first brought the idea to the profession in Canada.

In the United States they were attempting to secure 18 additional district judges to deal with the cases arising out of the 18th amendment. This remark brought another outburst of laughter which was renewed when Mr. Taft explained that these judges would be used as judicial light cavalry and would be annexed where the rush of cases demanded.

TOO ILL TO GO TO SCHOOL

Mother Tells how Daughter was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cobourg, Ont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me for my daughter. She had trouble every month which left her in a weak and nervous condition with weak back and pain in her right side. She had these troubles for three years and frequently was unable to attend school. She became regular and feels much better since she began taking the Vegetable Compound and attends school regularly. She is gaining steadily and I have no hesitancy in recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine."—Mrs. John Toms, Ball St., Cobourg, Ont.

Standing all day, or sitting in cramped positions, young girls contract deformed conditions, and develop headaches, backache, irregularities, nervousness and bearing-down pains, all of which are symptoms of woman's ill. Every mother who has a daughter suffering from such symptoms should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Simm Fein Invited To Conference

British Cabinet Insists That Ireland Must Remain Within Empire.

London.—The British Cabinet has invited Mr. de Valera to send delegates to a conference with the Cabinet Ministers at Inverness on September 20, according to the Daily Mail's Inverness correspondent, who adds: "Only one condition is imposed namely, on the understanding that Ireland must remain within the Empire."

The communication to Mr. de Valera, according to this dispatch, asks for an early reply and points out the apparent uselessness of conducting negotiations by a further exchange of notes. In order to allow any fears regarding Ulster the decision that Northern Ireland must not in any circumstances be coerced was reaffirmed by the ministers.

Cattle Stealing Charges

Stock Has Been Returned to Canadian Owners by U.S. Sheriffs.

Lethbridge, Alta.—James R. Leach, a Montana rancher living along the border, and James Muir, one of the cowboys of his outfit, were committed for trial at Courts on a charge of stealing cattle from the Wallace, Ross and Webster outfits on the Alberta side of the line. Eight cattle involved in the alleged thefts have been gathered up by Montana sheriffs and turned over to their Canadian owners. Brand running was the method used in the operations, according to the evidence, and Sheriff Morgan, of Liberty County, Montana, testified that when he arrested Leach at Chester he admitted his guilt.

Increase Lake Rates For Grain Shipment

Will Cost the Farmer One and a Half Cents a Bushel More.

Winnipeg.—Lake freights on grain from Port William and Port Arthur to Georgian Bay points have been advanced 1 1/2 cents a bushel this week. Officials of the vessel owning companies say this is due to the demand from Chicago for tonnage and Canadian shippers must pay a premium to induce boats to come to the lake head for cargoes.

Greeks Still Advance

Turk Army Is Unable to Resist the Greek Forces.

Greek General Headquarters in Asia Minor.—Turkish Nationalist forces have been driven from new positions occupied on September 1, but have retired slowly, defending every inch of the ground. On Tuesday night, the Turks launched wild attacks and succeeded temporarily in re-occupying their lost positions, but later were again driven out. Unofficial estimates place the Turkish losses at 12,000 killed and wounded. The Greek losses are unknown, but are said to be heavy.

Grain Shipments Break All Records

Officials State Movement Well Ahead of Other Years.

Winnipeg.—All previous records for volume and early shipment of grain over the Canadian Pacific Railways western lines have been shattered this season.

Wheat and other grains shipped east up to this time has passed the eight million bbl mark and this in a measure, it is stated, accounts for reported congestion in Montreal. Of wheat, 5,419 cars have been handled aggregating 7,402,354 bushels and 580 cars of coarse grains have carried 1,020,400 bushels. Early harvest and threshing, and the course of many farmers in putting the grain on the market without delay is responsible for the heavy movement eastwards.

Preparing For Elections

Once Dissolution Takes Place and Writs Are Issued There Remains Only Routine Work.

Ottawa.—The necessary machinery for carrying out the coming general election is all ready. Once dissolution takes place and the writs for a general election are issued, there only remains the need for expressing all the necessary forms and documents to the returning officers in the various constituencies. At the office of the chief electoral officer, preparations have been made for despatching the necessary forms immediately the writ is issued and election officers throughout the Dominion will at the same time receive full printed instructions as to their duties.

With the exception of Saskatchewan, and Prince Edward Island, there already exist in the different provinces, lists of voters which will be used as the basis of lists to be prepared for the coming general election. In each case the lists will be brought up to date as provided by the Dominion Elections Act, re-issuing officers and registrars being appointed as required.

A change affecting one of the brightest of Saskatchewan's weekly newspapers recently took place, when the ownership of the Milestone Mail passed from the hands of R. G. Ashwin to Capt. T. Barradell, M.C. The new proprietor of the Milestone Mail comes from Derby, Eng., where he occupied the position of works manager in one of the large newspaper offices there. Capt. Barradell served with distinction throughout the Great War. He was attached to the North Midland Field Ambulance and Northumbrian Field Ambulance. He saw active service on the Somme, Flanders and Champagne fronts, and took part in the last two German offensives. Capt. Barradell was decorated with the M.C. for gallantry and devotion to duty by remaining behind under heavy shell fire and clearing all wounded from a battery of Royal Horse Artillery during the German advance. Also for three days and four nights evacuating wounded and getting dressings and supplies to most difficult positions. Prior to the war he served with the 1st V.B. North Midland Brigade Bearers, Sherwood Foresters Bearer Company and the 1st North Midland Field Ambulance.

"Stands Strenuous Wear"

Some Facts About Growth of Canada's Fine Buffalo Herd

J. H. Harkin, Commissioner of the Dominion Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior, in a bulletin, stated that Canada's buffalo herd started a comparatively few years ago with a small number of animals, has greatly increased. Several small collections of animals, aggregating about 740 were placed in Buffalo Park, Alberta, extending from 1908 to 1912. That herd now numbers over 5,000. An actual count was very difficult to make because the animals range over 100,000 acres. They always go very outstanding efforts to facilitate a count. However, by using hotel dining room counters a fairly accurate idea of the numbers of the animals were obtained.

The Commissioner says that these animals have become very numerous, primarily because of the natural conditions under which they live, but perhaps most of all because there is practically no diminution in their numbers through disease or anything of that kind. Each year a limited number are killed for various purposes, but so far as mortality from natural causes is concerned, the loss is practically nil. For instance, during the past year, 1920, only eight animals died from natural causes. These animals were found dead on the prairie, or with a broken leg or some other serious injury, making it necessary that they be slaughtered. Continuing, the Commissioner says: "The numbers have been increasing so rapidly that we have been compelled to look toward—I might almost say—the commercialization of the herds. The establishment of that herd in the first instance was purely a matter of sentiment, but investigations we have made have rather rather indicate that, as they often seem to be the case, what we started off to do from a purely sentimental standpoint may prove to be a valuable commercial proposition. For instance, there is a demand for the herds—apparently a better paying market than we had ever anticipated. At the Montreal fur auction sales of last year we had on sale a limited number of the mounted heads which brought as high as $1,025 each. That was a surprise to us. The lowest price brought was, I think, $325.

"Our robes, we find, are worth easily an average of $100. Then we have the great meat value. There has not been very much experimental work in converting hides into leather. We have had a number of hides tanned for sole leather purposes. The reports which we have had in regard to its quality as sole leather are uniform. The shoemakers, however, tell us that it is the very best kind of leather, because, while it gives strength and thickness, it also gives us greater elasticity than the ordinary domestic animal hide.

"The meat, we think, will also give us a very valuable return commercially. We are not yet in a position to put it on the market, because we have not the facilities in the way of corals, sorting pounds, etc. But we are gradually getting these, and we think we will get a substantial revenue from the sale of the buffalo meat.

"There is also a possibility of commercial development in the matter of the wool, and that possibility is a promising one. We have never clipped any of the buffalo. It would be a difficult, if not impossible, thing to do with the facilities we have at our disposal. But each spring the buffalo shed their wool, and we have our riders collect this wool off the prairie. We have it carded and spun, and it gives us a wool of extraordinary strength. I do not think it could be used in the manufacture of clothes or anything of that kind, but I imagine if it could be used in the manufacture of carpets you would have an article that would almost never wear out. A buffalo hide is practically as good as new after it has been in use twenty years; the outstanding feature of the buffalo robe has always been its extraordinary wearing qualities.

"We have not yet carried on any experiments with respect to the domestication of the animals. This will probably be done. We are carrying on experiments with respect to cross-breeding of buffalo. We have reasonable expectations that we shall be able to produce an animal which will be able to range in the open all winter many hundred miles beyond the present limit for the domestic animal. These experiments are carried on by the Department of Agriculture, which has experienced veterinarians and animal husbandmen. We hand them over the animals and give them the use of the necessary amount of ground. They have specimens of one-half, one-quarter, one-eighth, and, I think, one-sixteenth of buffalo blood and sometimes the reverse in the case of the domestic animal.

"The work is largely in an experimental stage, but the animal husbandmen are optimistic in their views as to what the results of these experiments will be."

Britishers Interested in B.C.

Making Survey of Conditions Both of Cities and Unsettled Land.

A delegation representing the Canadian Land Owners' Association of England, are touring British Columbia making a thorough survey of conditions both of the cities and of the vast area of unsettled land in Central British Columbia, and studying the colonizing regions, which has been built up in this province to co-operate with their efforts in the old country towards inducing the best type of agricultural settlers to take up land here.

A Poser. An interesting story is now going the rounds concerning an editor who comes right out and flaunts his ignorance. He declares he can't help his son with his night work when the questions asked are like these: "It takes a four-months-old woodpecker with a rubber ball nine months and thirteen days to peck a hole through a cyress log that is large enough to make 117 shingles and it takes 165 shingles to make a bundle worth ninety-three cents, how long will it take a cross-eyed grasshopper with a take a cross-eyed grasshopper with a dill pickle."—Ottawa Journal.

Sports on the Pacific Coast

Surely there is no centre in the world where one can get such a variety of summer sports as in Vancouver, B.C. There are several excellent beaches for bathing; there are half a dozen different lots of public tennis courts within the city limits; there are several golf courses, baseball and lacrosse, a polo ground out at Brighouse Park where recently the Vancouver team played teams from Kamloops and Calgary.

Saturday afternoon nearly always finds a couple of the beautiful grounds played at Brighouse Park. But the most popular of all amusements in Vancouver are motor launching and yachting. The harbor down by the Yacht Club is dotted with pleasure motor-boats of every size and build; motorpower boats from the little row boat with an outboard motor fixed inside it right up to the scale to the beautiful launch from Seattle, 110 ft., built originally for a submarine chaser.

All the sailing boats turn out for the regatta held at various points along the coast. There are 16 "kits-

Being of Service To the Community

The C.P.R. President Talks Thrift to Boy Scouts.

Thrift is a word which is said to have come into the English language over a thousand years ago from the Scandinavian. It is the noun of which "thrive" is the verb, and suggests that success and saving go together. The very word THRIFT is a good word to look at. It is an upstanding word and at once makes one think of sturdy simplicity, the kind of quality which one associates with a Boy Scout. How different in appearance is its opposite EXTRAVAGANCE, a word which at once suggests an ostentatious irregular character, boastful as well as wasteful.

Now thrift means saving money and miserliness means saving money, but they are of the same kind of saving. The thrifty person saves money for a purpose, the miser saves money for itself. The thrifty person saves so as to have a bank account against bad times. His thrift has for its object independence and security, and is therefore in accordance with the Scout law. But miserliness is purely selfish, whereas a Scout is told to be thrifty so that among other things he may have money with which to help others when they need it. The Scout must be careful not to carry his thrift too far. You usually find that the thrifty person has a bank account, whereas the miser keeps his money in a stocking where it can do no good because it is not kept in circulation. The thrifty person puts his money where it draws interest, thus adding to what he already has got, and also performing a service to the community.

By letting the community have the use of his money while he is not spending it, the thrifty person does a service to the community for which the community is willing to pay interest. The miser, however, has just as little use for the miser as for the spendthrift—E. W. Beatty, in "Scouting," Regina.

British Farmers Coming.

A five thousand acre tract of land near Telkwa, British Columbia, on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is being cleared ready for occupation and cultivation next spring. The land has been sold through the Kootenay Land Company to a syndicate of British farmers, who will arrive this fall, well supplied with capital to begin farming on this section.

Work Of Experimenters In Evolving New Types Of Grain And Vegetables

Marketing Hog Products

Encouraging Prospects Both for Home and Export Trade.

The year before the war, or in the fiscal year 1913-14, Canada exported, mainly to Great Britain, 23,859,754 lbs. of bacon, 1,890,182 lbs. of ham, and 1,811,204 lbs. of pork. For the fiscal year, 1920-21, she exported 98,233,800 lbs. of bacon and ham, and 3,125,700 lbs. of pork, a total of 101,359,500 lbs. against 27,561,140 lbs. in 1913-14. This increase was below that of the abnormal year of 1919-20, when because of exhausted stocks abroad 230,324,900 lbs. of hog products were exported. These figures are taken from the third and revised edition of "Swine Husbandry in Canada," a bulletin treating of the hog in all its aspects recently issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. It is interesting to note that domestic consumption has increased so much in extent that less and less can be spared for export, and the danger is great that we may lose our footing on the British market in consequence. With a maintenance of the supply, however, Canadian hog-raisers may look forward to the future with confidence. One thing of great importance is that if the market is to be maintained, hogs must be properly finished. According to reports from the leading packing companies, the proportion of unfinished hogs is much too large, running as high as 15 per cent. in Central and Western Ontario and 20 per cent. in Eastern Ontario and Quebec. In the western provinces proportionately fewer light hogs are marketed, the tendency being to run to the other extreme. Hogs that exceed 220 lbs. live weight are not suitable for the production of bacon.

The breeds of swine most favored in Canada are shown by the registration of pedigrees with the Dominion Swine Breeders' Association. For instance, 1919-20, the number recorded were 5,578 Yorkshires, 3,722 Berkshires, 2,325 Duroc-Jerseys, 1,877 Chester Whites, 1,009 Poland-Chinas, 727 Tamworths and 258 Hampshires. The characteristics of each of these breeds are described in the bulletin referred to, together with information as to breeding, rearing, feeding and housing, supplemented by illustrations. Pork productions on the prairies receive particular attention. The Veterinary Director-General contributes a paper on hog cholera, with quotations from the law in regard thereto, and the Chief Meat Inspector on tuberculosis, its causes and symptoms.

World Will Have Sufficient Wheat

Twenty Countries Will Harvest Over Two Billion Bushels.

No cause for serious alarm is apparent at present over the prospect of the world's wheat supply, although the situation is not so satisfactory as was expected during the first part of the current season, according to the Department of Agriculture. Twenty countries which produce approximately 68 per cent. of the known wheat crop of the world, will harvest 2,461,430,000 bushels this year. That is 76,287,000 bushels more than was harvested in those countries last year.

Value of Fish.

The value of the sea fish catch in Canada during the "three" months period, April to June, 1921, amounted to $7,624,810, of which Nova Scotia accounted for $3,436,527, British Columbia $2,462,238, New Brunswick $1,066,731, Quebec $359,150, and Prince Edward Island $290,164.

Wool From Alberta.

Sixty-seven carloads of wool, as compared with fifty-five last year have been moved from Southern Alberta to the central grading station at Toronto this season. One hundred thousand pounds of Alberta wool have already been sold.

Give your local merchants a chance. Buy at home.

To produce a wheat that will take fewer days to mature, or a wheat that will give more bushels to the acre, has long been the ambition of workers in the field of scientific agriculture, says the Calgary Herald.

The farmers of America are at present carefully watching the showing made by a new wheat—the Kansas variety—which first came into prominence at the Kansas experimental station in 1915. It is claimed for this wheat that its general average increase over the varieties commonly grown is from three to five bushels per acre.

The New York Herald recently referred to the experimenters in wheat, to Fringle of Vermont, who discovered the Defiance, and to the work of Jones of New York, whose wheat was largely grown for years in the New England States, and to Luther Burbank. The Herald speaks of the achievements of the Saunders family, originally of London, Ontario, and later of Ottawa, and tells the story of Marquis wheat as follows:

"The Saunders, father and sons, began their work of developing a wheat which could be grown successfully in Western Canada, and along the northern belt of the United States, a quarter of a century ago. For their purpose they searched for wheat in all parts of America, Australia, Japan, in the colder districts of Russia, in the different altitudes in Himalayas. In 1903 they finally obtained a few grains from a single head of wheat which they planted in a small patch on the Canadian experimental ground. The yield of this planting was a pound of grain in 1904, the parent of which in 1918 came a crop of 300,000,000 bushels of Marquis wheat with a market price of $600,000,000. Canada estimates that the Saunders by their discovery of Marquis wheat, increased the value of the Canadian wheat crop $15,000,000 a year."

It speaks also of the patient experimenting of Dr. Seager Wheeler, of Rosthern, Saskatchewan, one of the first of the workers in this line to be given recognition by a Canadian university.

It is not only in connection with wheat that Canada is constantly discovering new possibilities. Professor Bedford of Manitoba, in the course of a very active life, has introduced many vegetables, the growing of which in the western climate was not regarded as possible years ago. R. J. C. Stead tells us what good crops of the first of the workers in this line to be given recognition by a Canadian university.

B. C. Gold Production

Anticipated Production for 1921 Will Be Greater Than That of 1920.

It is anticipated that the gold production of British Columbia for 1921 will be considerably greater than that of 1920 if the receipts to date at the Dominion Assay Office here can be taken as a criterion. The total receipts of bullion this year 46 bars aggregate in value $1,275,000, as against $1,073,000 for the same period last year. The improvement is attributed to the re-opening of the Rossland Mines by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., and the more satisfactory conditions under which the placed mining areas are being worked.

Good Yield of Wheat.

W. L. Crandall, of Pasqua, Saskatchewan, completed threshing operations August 30th and reported that from 98 acres of summerfall wheat he had threshed on an average of 25 bushels to the acre, all grading number 1 hard. From 100 acres of winter wheat he had threshed 16 bushels to the acre.

There are more than 150 brands of baking powder in Canada; and the fact that there is more MAGIC BAKING POWDER used than all the other brands combined shows why Magic Baking Powder is known as Canada's best baking powder.

Do you know what constitutes a strong constitution?

To have sound, healthy nerves, completely under control, digestive organs that are capable of absorbing a hearty meal, means you have a strong constitution! Your general attitude is one of optimism and energy.

But an irritable disposition, frequent attacks of indigestion, and a languid depression, indicate your system is not in correct working order.

Probably you are not eating the proper food. Probably the nutritious elements are not being supplied to your system in the proper way.

Grape-Nuts is the wholesome, delicious cereal that promotes normal digestion, absorption and elimination, whereby nourishment is accomplished without auto-intoxication. A mixture of energy-giving wheat and malted barley comprise the chief elements of Grape-Nuts. A dish at breakfast or lunch is an excellent, wholesome rule to follow.

You can order Grape-Nuts at any and every hotel, restaurant, and lunch room; on dining cars, on lake boats and steamers; in every good grocery, large and small, in every city, town or village in Canada.

PAINFUL DIARRHOEA

CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Funston, Craik, Sask., writes:—"A year ago last harvest I was taken with a sudden attack of diarrhoea, which completely laid me out, and in a few hours I had to quit work. The cramps in my stomach were dreadful, the beads of perspiration would stand out on my face at times I was in such great distress. At last I got a chance to send to town for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used it according to the way I felt and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very thankful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was except the extremely hot weather and the active work of stooping the wheat.

Several of my neighbors were taken the same as myself and had the doctor attend them, but they didn't get any great relief until I advised them to use "Dr. Fowler's," when they soon experienced a great change. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 76 years and many cheap imitations are being offered to the public.

A Novel Sport Coat

By Marje Belmont.

The sport coat appears in many a different guise, for it has various functions to fulfill. Sometimes it is demanded by the woman who goes in strenuously for athletics, or it may be worn by she who watch the players. This rather redecorative model belongs to the latter class. It is made of yellow flannel. The fronts, which are extended at the sides to form pockets, are outlined with bands of black crepe. The collar is high and is enriched with black wool embroidery. This also appears in the sleeves, which are very wide.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. W. Beasley, Millie Roche, Ont., writes "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past eight months and would not be without them. I used them for indigestion and teething and my baby is cutting his teeth without any trouble whatever. I can highly recommend the Tablets to other mothers." What Mrs. Beasley says thousands of other mothers say. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and making teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Was Flat On His Back In Bed A Whole Month, Declares Thompson

"The very first few doses of Tanlac I took made me feel better, and now my stomach seems just like a new one," said Samuel Thompson, 172 Peters ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"I was in very bad shape before I got Tanlac. My health broke down a year ago, and I got to where I was little more than a physical wreck. I was flat on my back in bed for a month, and when I got up the life of me seemed to be gone. I hardly had strength enough to get around, and my appetite was very poor. I soon commented suffering from indigestion so bad I just hated the thought of eating, for my food soured and I was kept bloated and in agony all the time.

"I finally started taking Tanlac, however, and by the time I had finished my second bottle I was eating heartily. I've taken five bottles now and can eat and enjoy anything I want and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am glad to recommend Tanlac, for I believe it will help anyone suffering from stomach trouble."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

The captain, seeing the entry, angrily asked the mate what this meant.

"I understand," she said, "that for $5.00 I can insure my house for $1,000."

"Yes," replied the agent, "that is so."

"Certainly," was the prompt reply.

"Oh!" and she turned to leave the office. "I thought there was a catch in it somewhere."
